2011 Arlington County Fair Competitive Exhibits Guides Now Available

ARLINGTON, V.A. – Arlington County Fair has released its 2011 Competitive Exhibits Guide. The theme for Competitive Exhibits is “Tell Arlington’s Story” and directly ties to the Arlington County initiative to celebrate Arlington’s rich cultural diversity.

Categories for participation range from Fine Arts, Photography, and Ceramics to Baked Goods, Flowers, and Food Preservation. “Competitive exhibits are at the heart of the Arlington County Fair providing the opportunity for community members to use their own talents and gifts. Competitive exhibits showcase of the best of Arlington as we tell Arlington’s story,” says Tiffany Kudravetz, Arlington County Fair chairperson.

Information and guidelines can be found in the official Competitive Exhibits Guide located in most community centers, nature centers, retirement centers, and online at <http://arlingtoncountyfair.us/CE.html>. The entry form is included in the Competitive Exhibits Guide and can be downloaded separately at the Fair website. In 2010, Arlington County was represented by more than 1,500 entries in the Fair competitions.

The Arlington County Fair is one of the largest free events on the East Coast and has been providing quality entertainment for 34 years. In recent years, attendance has reached 50,000 as people come from Arlington and surrounding areas to enjoy midway rides and games, entertainment, vendors, racing piglets, and more. The 35th Annual Arlington County Fair will be held August 10-14, 2011 at the Thomas Jefferson Community Center, 3501 South Second Street, Arlington, VA 22204. Admission is free, and shuttle service is provided from locations throughout Arlington.
